City Takes Initiative In Squabble

City commissioners again took the initiative Tuesday night when they instructed City Manager George Louder to present to Randall County commissioners a contract which calls for the governmental entities to pay for services provided by each.

County commissioners have not discussed a pages long report prepared by Louder in early summer which indicated the city was losing money in its current arrangement with the county on providing services.

City commissioners reviewed a first draft of a contract produced by Louder which incorporates the concept of having the county pay the city for fire service, dump ground service and library service and the city pay the county for jail facilities and communication facilities.

It was another move by city commissioners to meet with the county over what the city considers inequities in its current contract, which calls for a sharing of many facilities on a trade basis.

And it was another page in the continuing feud between city and county over who should pay whom for what services.

Louder's first draft, which is marked "confidential," calls for the city to pay the county on a use basis the costs of jail facilities for handling city prisoners and the cost of communication facilities for handling city police traffic calls.

It calls for the county to pay on a use basis the city for fire services provided to Randall County residents outside the city, for dump ground service provided persons living outside Canyon, and for library service provided county residents outside the city.

In addition, it calls for a reporting system and a method of review and analysis.

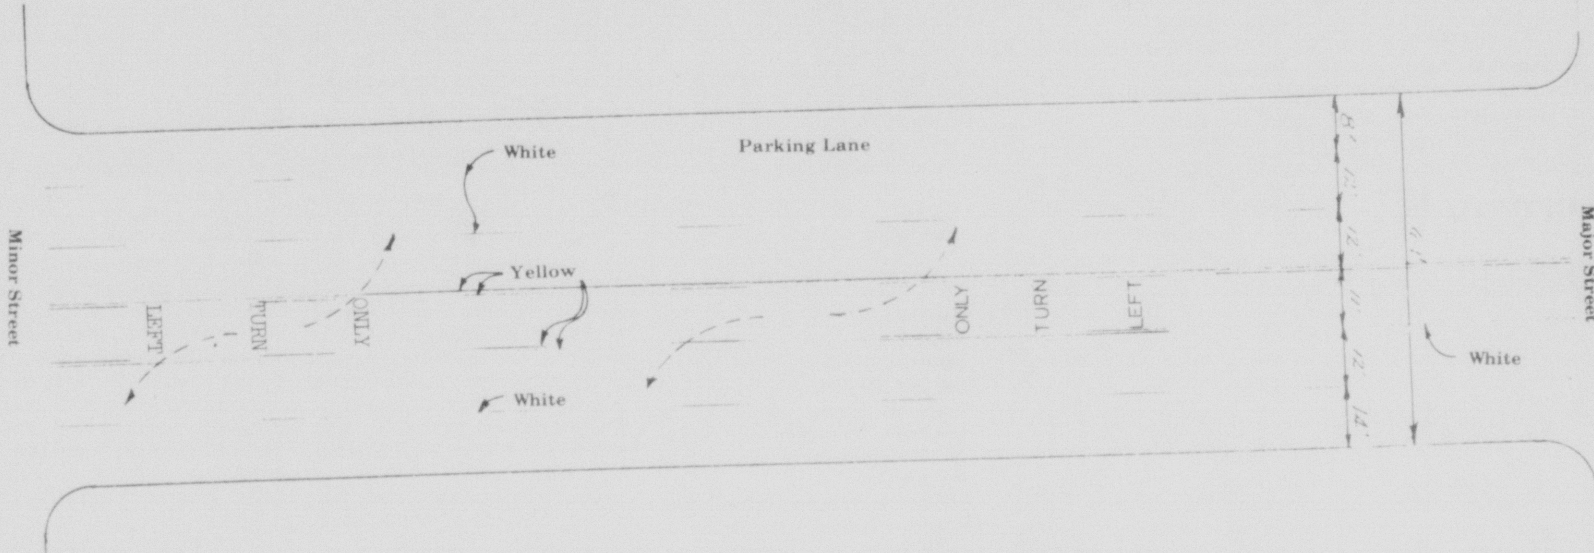

Louder was instructed Tuesday night to perfect the contract and meet with County Judge Woody Pond. He was instructed to approach Pond with the idea of naming a committee of city commissioners to meet with a committee of county commissioners to negotiate the contract.

Mayor Manly Bryan said he asked Louder to prepare the contract with the idea in mind that "if we have something concrete we can sit down and discuss and negotiate rather than talking out of thin air."

"I think this is an excellent statement of what we need to do," Commissioner J. Pat Stephens said. "I think it will be a fine instrument to use as a negotiating instrument. It will be a tremendous place for departure."

Mayor Bryan suggested one portion of the contract, a section which calls for a board of arbitration to consider the agreement provided the city and county cannot reach accord, be deleted, terming it unnecessary.

Commissioners told Louder to report back during their first meeting in October.

Plan for revamping 23rd Street for smooth traffic flow approved by city commissioners Tuesday night.

Changes Okayed On 23rd Street

A traffic control plan which eliminates parking on the east side of 23rd Street from city limit to city limit but which does not call for installation of concrete medians was approved Tuesday night for immediate implementation by city commissioners.

The plan is one proposed months ago by Police Chief Al Stewart and recently approved for augmentation by the Texas Highway Department.

Work revamping the main artery of Canyon is expected to begin Sept. 10 and is expected to take about four days to complete.

While other traffic control plans, plans which would ease the congestion of 23rd Street particularly during school terms, have been criticized loudly by merchants along the highway, the Stewart plan approved Tuesday night apparently received their silent blessing.

About three years ago, a plan developed by the city commission for construction of concrete medians on the highway ran headlong into trouble and merchants forced the issue to a vote. The plan was defeated at that time.

The plan approved Tuesday night calls for restriping of the entire length of 23rd Street. Parking will be eliminated along the entire length of the street only on the east side. Traffic flowing north and south will be in two lanes for each direction. A center lane will be striped for left turns only, and that lane will run the full length of the street.

Very little discussion preceded passage of the plan Tuesday by city commissioners. They first received Stewart's plan several months ago when Canyon Jaycees asked city fathers to accept their proposal for traffic control on 23rd.

Several merchants from the 23rd Street area met with the commission at that time and eyed both the Jaycees plan and Stewart's plan. No protest was heard from Stewart's plan.

In other business, commissioners tabled a request by Pioneer Natural Gas Co. to allow a monthly cost adjustment for city customers. Currently, the cost adjustment for costs Pioneer pays for its gas in the field is on an annual basis.

Since Pioneer is franchised by the city, it must come to commissioners for rate adjustment approval.

City Manager George Louder recommended the request be tabled pending the outcome of a meeting to be held tonight in Lubbock. The meeting will be of several cities on Pioneer's West Texas line to discuss the company's request.

The meeting will be a (See CHANGES, page 2)

Hike Action Taken Reluctantly

School Taxes Raised 5 Cents

For the second consecutive year Canyon School Board members Tuesday night raised the tax rate per $100 valuation by a nickel — from $1.70 to $1.75.

Action on the tax rate followed by minutes the board's approval of a $3.27 million budget for the current school year.

The additional 5 cents is expected to raise about $38,000 which will aid school board members in paying about $500,000 to construct a new vocational building on the high school campus.

The board members took the action to raise taxes reluctantly.

"At first I was against the increase," declared Dr. Dudley Moore. "But, it's a fact of life more and more to function."

Moore noted that to maintain current programs the increase is needed.

"I'd be for increasing it," he said.

"I don't think we ever want to raise the tax rate," said Board President Tom Keeling. "We're all taxpayers. But, it would jeopardize the school if we allow ourselves to run behind. It's plain we'll get behind if we don't raise taxes."

Supt. Jerry Jacobs noted that the increase amounts to less than 3 per cent.

The board was supported in its action by several school district residents who sat through the meeting after discussing other business with the board.

Jack Brandt of Umbarger told board members if they don't raise taxes a small amount when needed, taxpayers would be hard pressed to pay a large lump sum increase.

"The increase doesn't amount to that much really," he said.

The budget approved by the board following a public hearing during which no one spoke calls for $939,686 to be raised through local taxes and other local sources.

State sources are expected to provide income totaling $1,857,506.

The additional money raised by the tax increase will go to help pay for a new vocational building to be constructed on the high school campus. The state is sharing costs on a 53 per cent 47 per cent basis.

Instructional salaries will cost $1,596,424 this school year, according to the budget. Administration will cost $135,147.

In other business, board members expressed continued reluctance to trade or seek monetary compensation for several sections of land wanted by the Amarillo school district just southwest of the Amarillo district southern boundary.

Keeling and Jacobs told the board the results of their last week's meeting with a committee from the Amarillo school board on the land transfer request.

Jacobs said the Canyon committee decided that compensation which might be paid for as much as 2½ sections of the land would have to include compensation for the land's potential development value.

"The committee has made this stand," he said. "They would not consider anything unless it was definitely advantageous to the Canyon Independent School District."

The Canyon and Amarillo committees are to meet again in the next six to seven weeks to continue discussion of the matter.

Wheat Crop Planting Slowed By Rain Lack

A month-long dry spell which has taken its toll in the potential yield of the Randall County grain sorghum crop is now spelling trouble for farmers anxious to plant their winter wheat crop.

Normal precipitation during August is 2.58 inches, but during August of this year the county as a whole recorded only little more than a trace of moisture as temperatures rose well above the 100 degree mark and dry winds swept the heavy grain heads which are just turning reddish brown.

County Agent John Brazzil warned several weeks ago that the dryland grain sorghum crop in the county was suffering from lack of moisture and would need substantial rains during the plants' critical maturing stages.

"The drought is hurting us and it will continue to hurt us," Brazzil said. "We've reached the time now when considerable acreage is hurt beyond recovery."

Brazzil said while the dryland sorghum crop is hurting from the lack of rain, the irrigated crop "looks good."

With the crop past the stages of insect damage, Brazzil said the sorghum crop taken as a whole appears to be normal to below normal.

Although a good sorghum crop is anticipated this fall, it is not expected to surpass in monetary value the value of the spring's record wheat crop, which meant as much as $12 million to the county economy.

If next year's wheat yield is to be as abundant, though, rains must be abundant.

Currently, farmers are busy preparing the soil for planting of wheat but are waiting for enough moisture for planting.

"Many like to have pasture by mid- to late October," Brazzil said. (See WHEAT, page 2)

Students Start Classes; Enrollment Still Climbs

Classes on the West Texas State University campus began Monday and girls with bare midriffs and boys with cowboy hats or long hair renewed acquaintances while townsfolk took the day off in observance of Labor Day.

The new administration of Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, appointed president last summer, met the students who started class Monday.

And, Watkins met the students. He could be seen at several points talking with students near the administration building.

Enrollment continued to rise at the university, an encouraging sign to faculty and staff members who have watched as enrollment dropped from a high of nearly 8000 three years ago to a low of 6500 last fall.

Dr. Donald Cates, registration, reported that 6664 students had begun enrollment procedures through Tuesday afternoon. That figure compares with 6643 who registered for the fall term last year. The count is 124 more than the number who had begun enrollment for fall 1972.

Cates said initial reports filtering into his office indicate enrollment was up groups. The Canyon Chamber of Commerce sponsors the bike races, which last year drew nearly 100 participants.

Races begin at 1:30 p.m. Sept. 29 with a race for single speed bikes and youngsters 8 to 10 years of age. Ribbons will be awarded for the first five places.

For youngsters through 14 years of age, a seven lap race will be staged for multi-speed bikes. Gift certificates donated by Canyon merchants will be awarded totaling $23.50.

Third race of the afternoon will be a tri-cycle race for youngsters through age seven. Ribbons will be awarded.

A high school relay for racers through 17 years of age will be held with gift certificates totaling $50. The race will be for 20 laps.

No age limits are placed on the open relay which will be 100 laps around the courthouse square. Gift certificates totaling $175 will be awarded the first three place winners.

John Childs, who is heading the bike races this year, said in addition to the races, the Chamber hopes to have a rock band on hand to provide entertainment during the races.

He noted that it has been (See BIKE, page 2)

The sun was bright, the day was warm and school was back in session earlier this week as students returned to the West Texas State University campus for fall classes. These girls were reading mail from home when an old friend passed to chat.

Revenge Weekend For Buffs, Eagles

West Texas State University's Buffaloes open their 1973 football season at home Saturday night and revenge will be on their minds.

The Buffaloes of coach Gene Mayfield face Missouri Valley Conference rival Drake in the 7:30 p.m. contest at Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium. Drake handed the Buffaloes a 40-12 drubbing last fall in the season opener for both clubs.

Bufs

Drake has one game under its belt this year. The Bulldogs of coach Jack Wallace were beaten 27-12 by New Mexico State last week in a game played during a steady rain at Des Moines, Iowa.

Despite the loss in their opener, the Bulldogs have an explosive offense under the direction of 6-3, 209-pound quarterback Mike Zelenovich.

The big Bulldog quarterback sat out last fall after transferring from the University of Missouri. In his opener, he connected on seven of 25 passes for 90 yards and one touchdown.

To go with Zelenovich, the Bulldogs have a pair of excellent runners. Tailback Jerry Heston, hindered by slick playing surface, netted only 39 yards in 25 carries. He has rushed for over 2,700 yards in his career and the one touchdown he scored Saturday gives him a career total of 45.

Fullback Jim O'Conner, a rugged 205-pound junior, had 90 yards Saturday on 12 carries.

Drake linebackers Bruce Samples and Mike McDonald had superior defensive games against the Aggies. Samples was in on 18 tackles — six unassisted and 12 assisted. McDonald was in on 10 tackles. Big (6-5 and 264) Bill Stevenson had a fine defensive game from his tackle berth.

The Bulldogs have stopped West Texas twice in the past two years. They edged West Texas, 32-28, in 1971 at Kimbrough Stadium. They took advantage of (See BUFFS, page 2)

Canyon Coach Ron Mills is hoping the Spearman Lynx have lost some of their teeth as his CHS Eagles open their 1973 football season at 7:30 p.m. Friday on Lynx home turf.

Revenge could be a factor in the initial outing for the Eagles as they seek not only to make up for last season's 18-13 loss to the Lynx, but also seek to keep their high spirits alive to face a tough schedule of AAAA opponents.

Mills, who talks with enthusiasm about the attitude of this year's Eagle squad, shook his head following the home team's first scrimmage. But, things looked up for the coach as the Eagles took on their second scrimmage opponent last week.

"The first scrimmage, they looked terrible," Mills said. "The second scrimmage they looked as good as they've looked in a couple of years in scrimmages."

Mills has not only been watching his scrimmages, but he's been watching the Lynx and he doesn't discount their ability.

"They run a quick trap series that worries me," Mills admitted this week. "They have some big linemen and some good quickness in their backs."

Mills said he feels the Lynx are a well-balanced team. "The main thing we've got to do is prevent them from making the long one and we've got to (See EAGLES, page 2)

Dr. Lloyd Watkins is a take charge man and you can look for some changes for the better at West Texas State University.

I was particularly pleased with the new president's statement that hereafter the university would not be bound to the past.

"But we've never done it like that before," is a phrase that will not be heard in the halls of WTSU according to Dr. Watkins.

Dr. Watkins is a man who meets the public well. He already is developing a rapport with the student body. I talked to one young man who was asked into the president's office for a chat.

The student was most impressed with the fact that the university president sat on the same side of the desk with him and talked an hour.

Of course, I am happy that Dr. Watkins says he will build the journalism department at the school since the area needs

Price for congress. However, Senator Jack Hightower from Vernon has been making menacing motions toward Bob's job. I doubt that Hightower and Sherman, both members of the senate fraternity, would want to oppose each other in a Democratic runoff.

Dr. T. Paige Carruth is being mentioned as a likely candidate for the presidency of another state supported university. At least the rumor is rife on the WTSU campus.

Carruth's support from legislators seems to be the thing that has warmed up the regents of the institution to him.

to a proposal by the Umlberger Community Association that the association be given credit on the rent the school district charges for association use of the old Umlberger gym.

Association members said they had installed bathrooms in the gym at a cost of about $850. They asked that the rent be adjusted to reflect that improvement.

Board members gave the association $300 credit for two years' rent owed on the building and said they will negotiate for further credit next year.

determined that school-age youths who also participate in athletics will be eligible to receive the gift certificate prizes without fear of losing eligibility to compete in the University Interscholastic League competition.

All events are open to male and female entrants.

During the morning of Sept. 29, the chamber will also sponsor a bicycle safety rodeo.

Registration and information kits will be available at a later date.

The rodeo begins at 9 a.m. Bikes will be checked for safety. Ten events will be held for competition and the events are outlined in the information kits.

Awards for the rodeo will be presented following the afternoon races.

Parental consent will be required for entry in the rodeo and the races.

Regents Terms Expire; To Field Largest WT Band No Appointment Yet

The nine-man board of regents for West Texas State University was reduced to a six-man board this week as the terms of three regents expired.

A spokesman for Gov. Dolph Briscoe, who is to appoint replacements for Patrick R. Rutherford Jr., James Jenkins and Irby Carruth, said no appointments have been made.

He said the governor is out of the state until next week. He indicated the appointments would be made on the governor's return.

avoid penalties," he said.

Mills hopes his Eagles can put together a well-rounded attack this fall, an attack with a good smattering of runs and passes.

Veteran Ed Lair is back in the quarterback slot and Mills said Lair's passing has looked good in scrimmage action.

But, he believes the essence of the attack may be running.

"If we can run, we'll run it," he said. "You've got to run it first for the passing to be effective."

The Eagles will be depending on veteran Garre LaGrone and Gary Bednorz and Jimmy Ward plus newcomer Brad Martin to make the ground yardage this fall.

"I have a lot of confidence in our kids," Mills said. "If we can avoid penalties and stop their quick-trap, I think we'll win the ball game."

The team the Eagles will meet Friday night will have a lot of new faces.

Coach Greg Sherwood, who is in his first year at Spearman this year, told The News his team, which is short on experience, has now been plagued by injuries.

"Our best back was operated on Friday and he won't be in the rest of the season," Sherwood said.

And, one of his starting tackles fell from a cliff last weekend and will also see no action Friday night.

To top that, Sherwood said the Lynx have no returning starters from last year's team and will be starting four sophomores and

The four-year terms of Rutherford, Jenkins and Carruth ended Aug. 31. They attended their last regents meeting, unless they are reappointed, on Aug. 11.

The spokesman has previously told The News several names are under consideration for the appointments.

The three out-going regents were appointed by Gov. Preston Smith to the board of regents for WTSU when the board was created specifically for the university in October 1969.

They are the first regents to serve out their full terms on the university's governing board. Two other regents, Grady Hazelwood and Boone Pickens, have resigned during the past year.

Rutherford, an independent oil operator from Houston, has attended few meetings of the regents.

Jenkins, formerly of Amarillo and now in Houston, is a certified public accountant. He has been active in the WTSU ex-students organization and served on the Committee of 67 several years ago.

Carruth is former superintendent of schools in Austin. He is a graduate of WTSU and served as superintendent here.

Tracie Erwin Places Fourth At Perryton

Tracie Erwin, a Canyon High School senior, placed as fourth runner-up in the Miss Wheatheart contest held in Perryton recently.

She was sponsored by the Canyon Study Club and was first runner-up in the Miss Canyon competition. Miss Canyon for 1973 resigned her title because she was getting married and that made Tracie the new reigning Miss Canyon.

The Miss Wheatheart contest is sponsored by the Perryton Chamber of Commerce. Two of the judges for this year's competition were Miss America of 1967 and Miss Texas for 1973.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Erwin who live north of Canyon.

in such areas as agriculture, industrial education and music.

The total enrollment through Tuesday included 170 persons who have enrolled for off-campus resident courses in various Panhandle cities.

While students formally began classes Monday, they enjoyed several days of entertainment sponsored by the student activities council last weekend.

Dr. Watkins was entertained Tuesday night as Chancellor James P. Cornette hosted a faculty and student reception to formally welcome the new president to the campus. It was the third welcoming reception sponsored for the Watkins. One was given by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce and another by the university board of regents.

At least one WTSU professor thought the university was kidding when it said classes would begin Monday. He took the day off and enjoyed a Labor Day of leisure along with most Canyon businessmen.

revitalization of the old West Texas Utilities Committee, which was formed by various city officials several years ago to combat a Pioneer increase request at that time.

Pioneer local manager Ralph Mardis told commissioners Tuesday night the monthly adjustment will allow Pioneer to remain competitive in dealing for gas in fields.

"I guarantee it's a seller's market out there," Mardis said. He said competition is heavy for available gas resources and that if Pioneer is limited by annual cost adjustments it could lose its competitive edge.

Commissioners reviewed, but took no action on, two resolutions involving the city police department and the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission and other cities.

One resolution authorizes the PRPC to make application in its behalf to the Criminal Justice Council of the state for financial assistance in purchasing about $5000 worth of riot control equipment for the police department.

Louder said the city would be expected to pay about $1000 of that amount.

The other resolution authorizes Canyon policemen to aid any other community "when, in the opinion of the Mayor or other officer authorized to declare a state of civil emergency in such other county or municipality, there exists . . . a need for the services of additional law enforcement officers."

Commissioners awarded contract for three police patrol cars to Imperial Chevrolet of Canyon at a cost of $2040 per unit after trade.

Other bidders were Jess Ford Co. of Canyon and Stevenson Motors of Canyon.

Wheat . . .

said, and they are the ones who are most interested now in planting their crops.

Wheat for the fall and winter is vital not only to the spring harvest but to the stocker cattle picture in the county through the winter months.

"The cattle situation is such that most all farmers have wheat pasture and most all wheat pasture handles stocker cattle," Brazzil said. "That's a big industry for the county."

"If we're going to get good pastures for fall and winter early planting is something we have to have. We'll have a big acreage of wheat in as soon as it rains."

Large acreages of wheat are expected, but probably not much larger than the acreages planted last fall, when most set-aside restrictions imposed by the federal government were thrown open for the farmer.

No set-aside requirement is in effect for 1974, according to Donald F. Lloyd, executive director of the Randall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The largest band in West Texas State University's history will take the field for pregame and half time performances Saturday night as the Buffaloes of WTSU face Drake in the season opener.

"We will be marching 160 bandmen for the first game," said Dr. Gary Garner, professor of music and director of bands at WTSU, "since we had not anticipated the 220 participants when we were drawing up the game shows. This is a 20 per cent increase over last year's number."

Garner said however, that the band would be marching 192 pieces at the second game they attend. That will be their out-of-town trip to Denton on Sept. 22.

"What's New at WTSU," is the theme of the first half time show, Garner said.

"We want to strike an optimistic note at the beginning of the year and show the world that this university is a pretty good place to be," the instructor said.

Opening fanfare of the half time production will be an arrangement of "What's New." The band will march onto the field to the sound of the hit tune made popular by the Tijuana Brass, "So What's New."

As a salute to the changing administration at WTSU, the band will mass and emerge in the formation of the initials JPC in honor of Chancellor James P. Cornette, who will be retiring from 25 years of service to WTSU during 1974.

Facing the east stands the band will play, "Thanks For The Memories" in tribute to Cornette.

Again in motion, the band will form the letters LIW and play "This Could Be The Start of Something Big" in optimistic anticipation of progress for the university under the leadership of the new president says Garner.

Moving into a concert formation, the half time entertainment then will feature the Buffalo Gals in a twirling routine to the theme of "Shaft."

"The final portion of the show will be a series of circle drills to emphasize the positive; show the world the university is on the move," said Garner.

Immediately following the band's performance, records consisting of WTSU fight songs, the school alma mater and other selections will be on sale from song girls and twirlers in the stands.

"The main reason we wanted to make this record," Garner explained, "is to acquaint people with WTSU spirit songs and promote support for WTSU through the sales to people in the region."

Pre-game activities for the Buffalo-Drake game will center on a school spirit and patriotism theme Garner said. The band will perform school songs then form an American flag for a presentation of "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "It's A Grand Old Flag," "The Star Spangled Banner" and invocation.

The band will then move into two long lines and play the alma mater and the Buffalo fight song as the football players come out on the field.

Forty-five hours of work were put into the game shows even before classes started at WTSU, according to Garner.

He explained freshmen and new band members met with drill instructors on Aug. 25; the entire band had initial rehearsal on Aug. 26 working continuously during registration week. That accounts for the exceptional quality of the group in Gary Garner's opinion.

"This coupled with the outstanding spirit and pride the band has this year," says Garner, "should create some great entertainment for Buffalo fans."

eight Buffalo turnovers (six fumbles and two pass interceptions) to record last year's win.

West Texas and Drake tied for the MVC title last fall with Louisville. Each of the championship teams had 4-1 records in conference play. Because of schedule difficulties, the teams didn't play all of the other league opponents.

This year, however, West Texas and Drake face all of the Valley teams during the season. Louisville does not play New Mexico State. The remainder of the Valley teams are playing round robin schedules this fall.

The Buffaloes are entering the final week of practice prior to the opener in good physical condition. Quarterback Bob Sweat, who underwent surgery late in the spring to correct a shoulder injury, has not fully recovered and will probably miss Saturday's contest. The remainder of the players in the Buffs' two-deep will probably be ready for action.

Saturday will be the return of Billy Pritchett, an all-conference selection as a running back during his sophomore year. He injured a knee last fall and missed four games and slipped to second team all-conference honors. His knee has apparently responded well to treatment and he should be ready to open at tailback in the Buffaloes' new I formation, along with Borger's Cole Fraley.

Mayfield and his staff will still use the Wishbone T formation, but will also use the I formation in order to get a better balance between running and passing.

NOW THAT "BACK to School" is a definite fact of life, mothers across our land find themselves tossing out junior's dead lizards happened upon whilst retrieving mismatched socks from under the beds; and, most importantly of all — "putting up" treasures from their (or someone else's) gardens. Some really dedicated, ever trusting, moms are even tackling summer's ignored closets. Oh! Joy!

ONE VERY PRETTY new face at Gene Howe this year belongs to Pam Layman. Miss Layman came to us with the intention of being our second kindergarten teacher. Following registration and the totalling of the students, Miss Layman found herself with a first grade class. Pam doesn't mind the switch, tho, and after one day with "her" children, she has decided that Room 27 is the place to be. Pam's young students are not only darling and interesting, she says they are quite witty, too. Where better could she come by material for a "some day" book she plans to compile!

THIS IS PAM'S first teaching position, having graduated from West Texas State University on Aug. 17. She has her Kindergarten Certificate, and plans on returning to school in the spring for work on an Early Childhood Certificate and a L.L.D. Certificate. She came to us highly recommended and is definitely qualified.

PAM PLANS to keep her class happily involved in the learning process, keeping the interest up and the motivation at a high level via creative instruction. During this past summer Pam worked in art therapy at the Pavilion. Last year she tutored underprivileged children on a one-to-one basis through a program promulgated by the Y.M.C.A.

PAM LIVES IN Amarillo, and when she can spare a little time from school-related activities, she sews, cooks, reads and plays a little tennis. Pam is quite pleased and proud to be a part of the faculty at Gene Howe. She's a very welcome addition to our school.

EVERYONE WILL HAVE an opportunity to meet with this personable young lady, as well as all the other personable faculty members, on Oct. 1. This is "Back to School Night" for the parents of students in the kindergarten through third grades. Also happens to be the first PTA meeting of the year, with your new president, Ernestine Harp, at the helm. Following a brief bit of PTA business, announcements, etc., parents will be able to visit with their children's respective teachers.

OCTOBER 8, ANOTHER Monday, will be "Back to School Night" for parents of the fourth through sixth grade students. The tentative date for Gene Howe's chili supper is Nov. 9. Get these dates on your agenda now. Details to be furnished later.

SOMETHING YOU CAN do now, if you haven't already done so, is join the PTA. Margaret Ingram, Membership Chairman, reports that 240 people have joined as of registration day. The membership committee will be sending an invite to join home with the youngsters this week. When your youngster brings this note home, pay your dues. But, don't stop there. Come to the meetings and join in. You are wanted — You are needed.

GLANDEEN SHENK, SUZAN Cunningham and Daryne Bell are serving with Margaret on this membership committee. A membership contest commences with the issuance of the letters and will end Oct. 8. The primary room with the largest percentage of parent memberships will be treated to a banana split party, as will the intermediate room with the largest percentage of memberships. (An uninterested, third party, with a professorship in math figures the percentages.) (Cannot tell a lie — he is not a professor — he is interested.)

LINDA THOMAS WILL be serving as hospitality chairman for the PTA this year. Betty Thomas and Linda Ford will be helping Linda with the refreshments and decorations.

CORRECTION: (EVEN THE youngest reader caught this one.) Bill Seth was wished a belated happy birthday on Sept. 27 last week. Only the belated part was right. Another try and another happy belated to Bill, whose birthday is actually and really on Aug. 17.

HAROLD AND BILLIE Erwin always enjoy busy, hectic summers. This summer was no exception, but was highlighted by two special events. First off, the Erwins along with several other couples, took themselves and their boats off to Lake Powell for several days. Lake Powell, one of the largest man-made lakes in the world, lies on the Utah-Arizona border. Glen Canyon Dam blocks the Colorado River, forming a lake that is 186 miles long and about 500 feet deep at its deepest point.

A HUGE RED rock canyon surrounds the lake, and Billie said that they could see the places where the cliff dwellers lived high up on the rock walls. The group lived on the houseboat, taking excursions daily into the narrow canyons via smaller boats. They sailed over a hundred miles and didn't begin to see it all. Billie said the water was clean and beautiful, the fishing good, and most importantly to her, it was quiet and peaceful. The menfolk did the cooking, and the ladies read and visited, taking life easy.

BILLIE'S LIFE WAS made easier, so to speak, by her breaking a bone in one of her feet. (She was accused of doing this on purpose, so she could be waited on.) She accomplished this by indulging in a mis-step from one boat to another. The group was on its way to a visit to Rainbow Bridge when Billie had her little accident. Hopefully sure it was nothing more serious than a sprain, Billie made the quarter of a mile walk to the bridge and back before ensconcing herself in the most comfy chair available, with an ice pack for her foot, for the duration.

BACK HOME TO hear the doctor say everything was healing correctly, and to a very grand surprise! Harold and Billie observed their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on the 20th of August. While they were off in Utah, their children made arrangements for a gala party.

About 25 dear friends, including some who had attended the Erwin's wedding, came to join in on the surprise. The Erwin youngsters acquired all sorts of good food, decorated with fresh flowers, and gave their parents some lovely silver pieces for remembrances sake.

THE ERWINS HAD gone out for dinner with friends, (who were in on the secret.) And, when the friends took them home rather early in the evening and hurried them up to the house, Billie was beginning to wonder about things. When they walked into the house and the lights came on with everyone greeting them, the mystery was clear. Billie said the evening couldn't have been nicer. She hopes everyone will have something as pleasant as this happen to them. Congratulations, Billie and Harold.

FOR FUN AND for serious: Window sill gardeners take note — Betty True's sister from England gave the following interesting item, originally from a Mormon storage plan, to Betty. Upon request, Betty agreed to share it with us. Place a wash cloth on the bottom of a tray or cookie sheet; sprinkle with beans or grain; cover with another cloth. Keep damp by watering two or three times a day. Keep in a dark place at about seventy degrees from two to four days. What will you have then? Some delicious bean (or grain) sprouts that are agreeable in stews, soups, breads, and in salads. Just pop the sprout and the bean to which it is attached in whatever you have planned for supper. Purported to be an excellent source of protein and Vitamin C.

SUGGESTED BEANS INCLUDE mung beans (found at health food stores), pinto beans and lentils. Navy beans didn't do too well at all for Betty's sister. Suggested grains include wheat and alfalfa. Sprouting times vary, of course, depending on the type of grain or bean used, but you should be able to "harvest" somewhere around the fourth day. Feel free to peek, if you are so inclined. Results of your endeavors will be crunchy, nourishing, and, most certainly, a meal-time conversation item. Try it.

REMEMBER SEPT. 16? You put it on your calendar last week. This is why — the Track and Trail Sports Riders of Amarillo will sponsor a Shellye Carroll Benefit Race on this day at the Motorcross Pit. The pit is located on Interstate 40 at the intersection where the Texas Tourist Information Center is located. Grandstands will be erected for the spectator's comfort. Riders from absolutely everywhere will be on hand and in competition for the thousand-dollar purse. Sure will be a lot of action!

TICKETS, AT TWO dollars each, will be available at all Canyon schools. All moneys taken in, outside of the purse, will go into the Shellye Carroll Fund! Isn't that great!

FOR PRE-RACE information, or ticket information, write the Track and Trail Sports Riders of Amarillo at P.O. Box 9251, Amarillo; or, call 355-2040.

SHELLYE UNDERWENT SURGERY on her neck this past Saturday in Arizona, and is recovering from that operation just fine. The Carrolls expect that she will be able to come home around the first of October. Be nice to have her back, won't it!

ALEXIS HEFLEY AND her partner won second in the Tri-State Tennis Tournament held in Big A this weekend. This win was in the 14 girls partners, and found Alexis bringing home another trophy! Five trophies out of seven tournaments ain't half bad, now is it. Her mom, Pauline, also entered several events in the tournament. She enters these things for "Fun" and to "Build Character." (In other words, she didn't bring a trophy home.)

PRIVATE TED HORNSBY will soon be finishing his training in Light Air Defense in Missile Electronic School at the Red Stone Arsenal near Huntsville, Ala. Ted is a 1972 graduate of Canyon High School, and will be coming home soon for a visit with his proud mom and pop, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hornsby.

THANKS FOR THE use of the hall.

Registration will begin at 1 p.m. as usual. The program in the auditorium will begin at 2. This will be followed by the business meeting, so don't anyone leave when the "kids" do... thinking that it is over. The supper will be served beginning at 5:30 and will be $2. Happy Cowboys versus the Nazareth Swifts at 8 p.m. and then coffee will be served in the school cafeteria. On Saturday, Oct. 6th, the Class of 1953 will have a 20th reunion. A BARBECUE WILL precede the steer roping at noon. A $5 ticket which can be purchased from any Association member, entitles you to admittance to the Roping on Saturday, the barbecue and Steer Roping on Sunday and a chance to win two free tickets to the National Finals in December at Oklahoma City, complete with accommodations at a motel. These accommodations are two double beds at a leading motel. The Association member selling the most tickets will be rewarded by also receiving two free tickets and accommodations at the same motel. You must be present to win the free trip.

DEBI MCDONALD, BRIDE elect of John Maroney, was honored with a bridal shower on Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bob Hargrave. Guests were greeted by Pat Hargrave, Debi, Joan McDonald, mother of the bride, Jettie Ratjen and Ova Mae DePompa, grandmothers of the bride. They wore corsages of royal blue and avocado green carnations and feathered carnation.

SHARON DEITZ AND Kay Sheets registered guests. A large royal blue candle in a green and blue flowered candle ring decorated the table.

THE SERVING TABLE was covered in a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of royal blue and avocado green assorted flowers. White cakes, mixed nuts, and sherbet punch were served from crystal appointments. Kathy Leavitt and Sherma Flowers served guests the first hour and were relieved by Sheri Henry and Debra Jackson.

GIFTS WERE DISPLAYED in three rooms and included everything I could think of they'd need.

HOSTESSES FOR THE occasion were Pat Hargrave, Willie Butler, Joyce Ralsback, Mary Jane Miller, Helen McFarland, Myra Nell Culp, Fern Wilson, Ruth Sims, Modenia Rahlfs, Betty Rahlfs and Becky, Wanda Bates, Willa Elliott, Joyce Wheat, Anna Mae McManigal, Joy Smith, Camma Lou Tackitt, Vickie Whitlow, Mallie Sheets and Kay, Joy Cox, Lena Belle Cabe, Charlotte Weaver, Alice Penn, Sweetie Johnson, LaNelle Todd, Lonas Wright, Fern Spear, Mary Sue Eakes, Sherry Walker, Kate McManigal, Carolyn Dietz and Sharon, Willa Jane McManigal, Camilla Greenfield, Royce Vernon, Joanne Lee, Nora Taylor, Mary Mayes, Lavenna Jackson and Debra, Pat Hargrave, Ernestine Danner, Karleen Moore, Ruth Aikens, Louise Sydloski, Pat Sims, Maurine Allison, Joanne Odom, Wilma Briscoe, Jane Thornton, Darlene Cole, and Sheri Henry and myself.

DEBI AND JOHN opened their gifts on Saturday morning in the Hargrave home. Coffee and cakes were served. Family present were Joan and Reed McDonald, Donna McDonald, Kelly and Terry McDonald, Jettie and Amos Ratjen, Ova Mae DePompa, Linda McDonald, Jean and Cindy Partlow, Betty Whelchel, and several hostesses helping. I remember LaNelle Todd, Willa Elliott, Ernestine Danner, Joann Odom, Joyce Ralsback, Anna Mae McManigal, Willie Butler, Mary Jane Miller, Myra Nell Culp, Sheri Henry and myself. There may have been others. I didn't help, I visited. I hadn't seen Jean (Ratjen) Partlow in years. She and Betty and Joann, and Linda, and Joan, and I had a wonderful time — just visiting.

SHARLA MILLER WON second place at the Southwest Regional Appaloosa Horse Show in El Paso recently. This show was the climax of the series of Golden Spread Horse Shows. When the total points are calculated, Sharla will see how she stands as a showman.

BETTY AND JOHNNY Miller and their Sharla and John also visited Juarez and the open air markets and took in the Dog Races while they were in El Paso. SILVERTON OES CHAPTER held their annual Friendship Night on Tuesday evening of last week. Jo Hand, Evelyn Shipman, Gladys Haley and Pauline Wesley represented the Happy Chapter.

CATHERINE MILLER WAS a guest of Mary Phifer at a guest tea given by Mary's sorority. Eula Hayes was there with Patsy Gaddy. Three Amarillo High students (male) provided a singing program. It was reported very good.

BOB HENRY AND Pearl Boone ate supper with us on Tuesday of last week.

SKIP AND LARRY Simons and their Suane and Clay spent their vacation at "home" near Trinidad a few weeks ago. Last week they returned from the Trinidad Round-Up, which is rodeo, fair, and reunion — all in one weekend.

THE SWISHER COUNTY Fair precedes the Tri-State Fair one weekend. It will be Sept. 14 and 15. Some of the 4-H and FFA will be showing livestock there.

HAPPY COWBELLES AND Terra Cotta CowBelles plan to have a booth in the new commercial building. Happy CowBelles will hold a drawing for two free roasts each day. Terra Cotta CowBelles plan to cook two roasts on rotisseries and demonstrate the cooking of beef and then have drawings for two of these cooked roasts a day. There will be free material and recipe books on the cooking of beef. And the CowBelles will be selling bumper stickers, "Beef Eaters are Better Lovers," and "Smile" beef buttons.

MILDRED AND PUNK Zacharey and their granddaughter, Amy, were in town this week. I enjoyed visiting with them a few minutes.

EVELYN DOWD IS employed at the school tax office now and enjoying the work.

JOYCE AND DON Stoneberg and three of their children were in Happy last Friday evening on their way to Lubbock for the night. They planned to attend the Miller Reunion in South Texas this weekend.

PEGGY BELL IS the Route 2 mail carrier for Happy. Peggy has been at the job almost a month now. Mrs. Baker retired because of her health.

CHARLIE MORRISON HAS purchased the Gulf service station building on the highway and converted it into his garage. Charlie moved into his new building last weekend.

BECKY RAHLFS' PICTURE appeared in a local daily newspaper last week as one of the graduates of Medical Technology from Northwest Texas Hospital. She was one of only two who were recognized recently. Two others will graduate in December. This is a very limited field. Becky plans to work in with Dr. Dias in Amarillo in a pathology laboratory.

BOB ROBINSON AND Jim McManigal's pictures were also in the daily recently. Bob Robinson is busy getting the Tri-State Fair plans completed and Jim was supposed to have judged it. Jim learned that he will be taking the WTSU Judging Team to Tennessee that week instead.

HAPPY JAYCEES KEPT their Labor holiday rest stop open for over 65 hours last weekend. Dean Bryan was chairman of this project. Coffee, soft drinks, donuts, gum, matches, and maps were given to weary travelers at no charge. Over 200 people representing seven or eight different states were served. If as many as one life was saved, all the man-hours donated proved worthwhile.

SHERRY WALKER AND also David Walker had their tonsils out last week. David returned to school on Tuesday of this week. Sherri Starkey won the All-Round Cowgirl and Eddie Joe Pearson won the All-Round Cowboy at the Muleshoe Junior Playday last weekend. Valerie Tipps won several places and came home with a brush and comb, etc. for her efforts. Swisher County was second in points for the high scoring club.

LINDA SCHRIB HAS enrolled in WTSU in a shorthand course under Dr. Callarman. Linda wanted to take this course before this instructor retired.

MAURINE ALLISON ATTENDED the District PTA Executive Meeting in Amarillo last week. Maurine is the District historian. She is also a member of the National Parliamentarian Association.

and took a load of furniture to Gracyne and James Parker for their new home. They are not finished with it yet, but were finished enough for the furniture to be moved into the new home.

JIM AND RHONDA and their Wes will be moving to Stratford this month. Jim Allison will be the Sherman County Agent. Keith Waters helped Jim find a house to live in and Robert Ferguson is a county commissioner. Small world.

JO HAND KNOCKED on the door early one morning — looking very neat and grinning "from ear to ear." "Come in, Jo," I sang (in my red housecoat and barefooted). "You're not going to be so happy to see me when I tell you why I'm here," Jo said. She didn't have to tell me. I knew. She had to come to get me for a "Come As - You - Are" breakfast. She said, "I'm paying you back for last year." Nora Taylor hosted a "Come As - You - Are" breakfast for the Ruth Sunday School class. She served tuna pies, fruit, biscuits, and orange marmalade and delicious coffee to Opal McCarley (who also had on her housecoat), Billie Eubanks, Betty Tipps, LaNelle Todd, Jo Hand (all dressed up), Camilla Greenfield, Joyce Patching, herself and me. It was fun. Pat Malone also had her Jeff and Mike.

OPAL MCCARLEY HAS her mother, Mrs. Jackson, with her while she recuperates from her recent illness and stay in the hospital.

Flag Football, Soccer

Sign-ups On Friday

Signups for boys interested in playing flag football this fall and for girls interested in playing soccer will be from 6 to 8 p.m. Friday at Conner Park.

The two sports leagues will be sponsored by Canyon Kids, Inc.

This marks the second year flag football will be offered for boys who do not wish to participate in regular contact football. Last year four teams were fielded. Ages for flag football are for boys between 7 and 10.

It will be the first year for offering of girls' soccer for girls in grades 3 through 6.

Kids, Inc., official Max Brummett said coaches are also needed for the two additional sports.

The flag football and soccer teams will play only other Canyon teams. They will not compete with Amarillo.

Brummett said no charge will be made initially until officials can gauge interest in the two new programs.

"Whether soccer and flag football go this year will depend on whether mom and dad want to make it go," Brummett said.

Gowens Receives Ph. D.

Dr. Paul Gowens, assistant professor of business, was awarded a doctorate this summer from the University of Mississippi.

A member of the WTSU faculty since 1971, Gowens holds Bachelor of Arts and Master of Science degrees from Baylor University.

His dissertation was entitled "Measuring the Marginal Rate of Return From Research And Development: An Aggregate Production Function Analysis of the United States Ethical Pharmaceutical Industry."

According to Dr. Gowens, the results of his findings indicated that the pharmaceutical industry should abandon "the frequently-criticized practice of pursuing defensive research (modifying existing products), in favor of exploratory or breakthrough research."

In the pharmaceutical industry, he said, the tendency among manufacturers has been to take a drug already on the market, modify its molecular structure slightly, and patent it as a new drug.

However, his research findings indicated that the rate of return for research and development in the industry has been going progressively down.

Dr. Gowens attributes this decrease in returns to the fact that at the end of 17 years, patents expire on the adapted drugs, and the generic product from which the drug was derived appears on the market at a much cheaper price.

"The rate of return on research in the pharmaceutical industry," Dr. Gowens said, "is decreasing to the point where in the future it will have to pursue big, imaginative breakthrough projects — like cures for cancer, kidney ailments and heart diseases."

The reason for the "copying" of drugs in the industry, Dr. Gowens puts down to the high cost of research. Unlike the aircraft industry, where copying other designs proves costly, the drug industry is one in which copying can be done cheaply, but inventing new products through research can be achieved only at great expense.

Dr. Gowens is expected to be co-author of a comparative study of pharmaceutical industries of the United States with those of European countries under national health programs. The study is being pursued at Mississippi under a Ford Foundation grant.

CLEAN ENERGY FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW

A Natural Energy Home uses natural gas for heating, cooling, water heating, cooking and clothes drying to save you money and help conserve our cleanest natural energy resource... natural gas.

That's because electricity in West Texas is generated by burning natural gas, and in the process of generating and transmitting electricity to your home, 2/3 of the gas energy is lost.

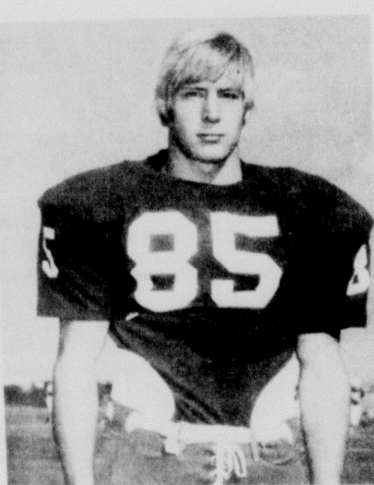

So, by using gas directly in the home for the jobs it can do, you're helping to conserve it and you're getting more energy for your money.

A New Kind Of Girl Participating In Formal Rush Activities At WT

Is the sorority rush of today different from her mother or grandmother when they went through rush?

In the opinion of Mary Lou Farnum, assistant dean of women at West Texas State University and president of her sorority when in college, the answer is yes.

"The young women who will be going through rush at WTSU this week are not shy or embarrassed about asking questions regarding sorority life," Miss Farnum says.

"They are quick to ask questions about finances and the kinds of community work and philanthropy the sororities are involved in," she says. "They are looking at the wider perspective."

"They seem very alert, very interested in the idea we have to offer. They want to be involved in something they can be proud of."

Miss Farnum adds, "We still have the girls who think of sororities only as a social organization, a means to help them get dates with fraternity men. But the social aspects are an important part of sorority life."

The weeklong period of rush at West Texas State started at 6 p.m. Monday (Sept. 3) with a convocation.

Five sororities affiliated with the National Panhellenic Conference are represented on the Canyon campus. They are Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Delta Zeta, Kappa Delta and Zeta Tau Alpha. Kappa Delta came on campus with a chapter only last fall.

Mrs. B.B. Grimes of Dallas, national vice president of Delta Delta Delta sorority, was to be the principal speaker at the convocation.

While Greeks in other parts of the country reported dwindling interest on college campuses in recent years, "We continue to hold our own or grow," Miss Farnum says.

"This rush may be one of the biggest we ever had," she says. "Preregistration during the summer totaled 97 and we expect from 25 to 50 to sign up at the convocation."

The local Panhellenic Council sets a limit of 55 members for each of the WTSU sororities.

Rush week is not without its humorous incidents, even if they do not seem so at the time.

"The rushees are really nervous and unfamiliar with the situation," Miss Farnum says, "and incidents happen which, at the time, seem very traumatic but will be laughed about when it's all over."

Some incidents which seem catastrophic to a rushee are clapping at the end of a song when no one else claps, or being perfectly dressed and having one's name tag on upside down, or taking a bite of refreshment at a moment a member asks you a question.

Very real problems often crop up during the week, such as sickness or death in the family, or the rushee herself becomes ill.

During these crises, group leaders, women from each sorority who do not participate in the actual rush events but guide the rushees through parties and answer questions, are the young women's mainstays through the week.

"This year to help even more," Miss Farnum says, "Panhellenic Council will have a section of the YWCA in Amarillo during the third night of parties. Rushees who have time between parties can then come here for refreshments without riding all over Amarillo for an hour."

There are four rounds of parties starting Wednesday night. By Saturday night the rushees will know which sororities want them and the sororities will know which girls want them.

"There are many worthwhile reasons for being Greek at WTSU," says Becky Haley of Canyon, president of the Panhellenic Council. "One reason is campus involvement."

"In student government, Greek women composed over three-fourths of the posts held by women in the Student Senate, the Student Association secretary was Greek, AWS president was Greek and two upperclass dorms were headed by Greek presidents."

The four women cheerleaders and all seven of the Song Girls were sorority members.

"Sororities and fraternities both at WTSU are very involved in community service," Miss Haley says. "Also each has its own special service project or philanthropy which it donates to every year."

Buff Lake Meet Tonite

Residents interested in the fate of Buffalo Lake will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Randall County courthouse courtroom to discuss public interest in the lake and possible ways to keep the lake open for full recreational purposes.

The meeting is a result of announcements by the federal Department of Interior about the future of the lake. Department officials have said the lake will ultimately be closed to all recreational activities except hunting and fishing.

Ideas to be considered at the meeting will be possibilities for getting water to the lake and possibilities for other agencies taking over responsibility for the recreational functions of the lake.

WT's Industrial Ed. Dept. Spotlited On TV

West Texas State University's industrial education department will be featured in a 30-minute television special by station KFDA (Ch. 10) at 7 p.m. Sept. 9.

The special, produced by KFDA, will explore the undergraduate and graduate programs of the department and the role played by the Industrial Advisory Council in helping the department, said Dr. Wallace Johnston, department chairman.

Industrial education courses are designed to give the student a basis of knowledge of industrial practices, materials and processes, Johnston said.

The advisory council, eight men who assist the department in program formulation and the placement of students, will visit the Canyon campus Sept. 17-19.

Council members representing manufacturing are Ed Dyson, vice president of Gates Rubber Co., Denver, and Bill Pyatt, general manager of Amarillo Gear Co.

Distribution representatives are Kenneth Chakiris, vice president of Rust-Oleum Corp., Evanston, Ill., and W. H. Wood, vice president of Cottingham Bearing Corp., Dallas.

Richard Bittman, owner and general manager of Bittman's of Amarillo and Lubbock represents the service interest.

From education is Dr. Norman Wallace, dean of the School of Technical-Vocational Education at Amarillo College.

Richard Purcell of Silas Mason Co. and the American Society for Quality Control and George Baker of Texas Employers' Insurance Association and the American Society of Safety

Engineers are ad hoc members of the council.

The council will spend the first day on campus receiving new material on the department's programs since the last meeting in February.

Proposals for a Bachelor of Science Degree in industrial safety engineering and a certification program by the American Society of Quality Control will be discussed by the council and faculty.

The second day the council will conduct interviews with students in the department "to provide for critique of programs and prospects," Johnston said.

On Sept. 19 the council will meet in a recommendations and wrap-up session. "It is anticipated that the focus of attention and effort during the council meeting will be the student needs in areas of recruitment, preparation and placement," Johnston said.

Alpha Theta Delta Chapter Of Beta Sigma Phi Maps '73 Plans

Members of the Alpha Theta Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met last Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Mike Lewis for their annual Beginning Day get-together. Mrs. James Hill, president, presided over the informal meeting. She gave the president's message and told of the theme for the year, "Love, Love, Love."

Mrs. Hill greeted the members and their guests and officially opened the activities for the coming year. Mrs. Steve Hines, the Yearbook Chairman, distributed the new yearbooks and the group went through them together. Mrs. Dick Maxwell, Service Chairman, gave the plans for service projects for the year. The chapter will contribute to the Goodwill Industries, give a Thanksgiving basket to a local family, and give a gift certificate from a local store to a family for Christmas. Each year the chapter contributes to the International Endowment Fund. The fund supplies money for Cancer Research and many other worthy causes. The contributions from the chapters in the United States and around the world add up to a sizeable amount given in the name of Beta Sigma Phi. The chapter also donates to a State project every year.

Mrs. Maxwell informed the chapter that this year for the first time Alpha Theta Delta would be adding our contribution to that of the other two Canyon chapters for a scholarship fund. The scholarship is to be given to a Canyon girl, who will be attending West Texas State University.

Mrs. Henry Lewis, Social Chairman, mapped out the main social activities for the coming year. Among upcoming events are: a September social, a Preferential Tea held for prospective members in October and a costume party for the same month. The annual Christmas and the members will have a luncheon in January. The Valentine Ball will be held in February and the Founders Banquet will be held in April. Both events are to be held with the other Canyon chapters, Xi Kappa Zeta and Chi Upsilon. An anniversary picnic will be held in June.

Program Chairman, Mrs. Kenny Conway, outlined the programs for each meeting for this year. She distributed the program books entitled, "Paths to Loveliness."

Mrs. Steve Hines, Ways and Means Chairman, gave a resume of the projects for this year. The annual garage sale was held in August and the next project will be participation in the Halloween Carnival put on by the Canyon Study Club. The group will have an apple-dunking booth and sell caramelized apples. In the spring, the sorority will sell stationery for funds. Mrs. Hines said that if it was necessary to raise more money for the scholarship fund, the group will hold a car wash, in the spring.

Last year's Scrapbook Chairman, Judy Hill, presented the scrapbook for that year to the past president, Mrs. Ray Grimes. The new chairman of the committee, Mrs. Paul Stevenson, explained her duties for the coming year and took some pictures for the scrapbook.

Publicity Chairman, Mrs. Grimes, explained her duties to the guests. Mrs. Hines had each member read from the yearbook, their own description of "What Beta Sigma Phi means to me." Mrs. Hill concluded the program and announced that refreshments could be served.

Guests attending were chapter advisor, Mrs. Johnny Robinson, and Mrs. Leslie Stone and Mrs. Ronnie McKown.

Members attending were Mesdames Conway, Hill, Hines, Mike Lewis, Henry Lewis, Maxwell, Grimes and Stevenson.

History Professor Gains Insight From Oregon U. Seminar

Methods of blending the history of the American West with its rich body of literature were recently explored by Dr. Michael Green, assistant professor of history at West Texas State University and departmental scholar on the American Indian.

Green returned to campus this fall after attending a seminar at the University of Oregon under a fellowship from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The seminar, according to Green, was geared to developing ways of using literature in the undergraduate history class. The premise of the literary approach, according to Green, is that the best way to "turn students on to books" is by choosing those which are most interesting to the student. As a rule, he said, literature tends to be more interesting than historical accounts.

"Not tied down to documents and footnotes, the novelist can often better depict historical motifs better than the historian," Green said.

For his seminar research, Green drew from his scholarship on the American Indian, and began shifting through literary accounts of the red man. He said that he found that certain works tellingly portrayed the cultural conflict that the Indian experience when confronted by white men. Works he selected for a hypothetical American Indian studies class included "Black Elk Speaks," "Little Big Man," "The Man Who Killed the Deer" and "Cheyenne Autumn."

Green said that he hoped to some day offer an actual course in American Indian studies.

The history professor also was awarded a doctoral degree this summer from the University of Iowa. His dissertation topic was "The Federal - State Conflict In The Administration of Indian Policy: Georgia, Alabama and the Creeks, 1824-1834."

The dissertation deals with the factional division of the Creeks in the period prior to their removal to Oklahoma territory. According to Green, the tribe had factionalized into conservatives, those who wanted to maintain the Indian life style, and the progressives, those who had adopted the culture of the white man.

According to Green, the first Indian lands to be sold by Indian agents were those acres belonging to the progressive Indians. As lands were bought up by whites, the progressives moved on to Alabama, where they joined with conservative tribesmen to try to eke a sustenance out of the land.

"The Creeks then followed an agricultural pattern, but it was not adequate. They began to starve, and the government exploited this starvation. When a group of Creek delegates went to Washington seeking aid, the reply was 'If you're starving, we'd be happy to help you — in Oklahoma.'"

In addition to his university studies of the American Indian, Dr. Green was a member of a research team assisting the Sak-Fox Indian Alliance in their claims case against the United States Government in 1963-1964.

A graduate of Cornell College with a master's degree from Iowa, Green was among the 14 faculty members at WTSU whose employment was terminated for the 1974-75 academic year due to the three-year decline in student enrollment.

'TEXAS' Draws Crowds

Composite surveys taken during the two-month season of "TEXAS," the outdoor musical drama, indicate an increasing number of audience members are coming to Palo Duro Canyon from distances of more than 500 miles.

Surveys were taken six times during the season by Mrs. Margaret Harper, publicity director for the show.

Her figures indicate 36 per cent of those viewing the shows during the nights surveyed came less than 100 miles to see "TEXAS."

A total of 36 per cent of those viewing the shows on the nights surveyed came more than 500 miles to see the drama and 28 per cent came from 100 to 500 miles.

The figures indicate 29 per cent of those surveyed came from out-of-state.

Attendance at the Paul Green musical soared to a new record again this year. The drama ended last week.

4-H Girls Participate In Automotive Project

By JULIA WHEELER
4-H Program Assistant
EVERYONE KNOWS THAT mechanical details of automobile care should be left to men. But along the way, someone forgot to tell the increasing number of girls in the 4-H Automotive Program. Melanie Austin, a young Randall County girl, enrolled in an automotive project last spring and has been an active member in the group. The boys and girls learn all about how an automobile works and how it can be repaired. In addition, safe driving skills and habits are developed.

Some of the group's activities have included a safety check on neighbors cars and visiting a body shop. The project members have rebuilt an engine. With the help of their project leader, Jim Hinsley, the group has almost completed a dune buggy. Other project members are Dorinda Barbican, Ray Leggett, Michael Hinsley, James Strader, Michael Smith and Walter Sims.
Firestone, program donor, provides incentives and recognition to boys and girls in the 4-H Automotive Program. Up to four medals of honor are awarded winners in each county, while the top winner in the program from each state receives an expense paid trip to National 4-H Congress.
For more information on the 4-H Automotive Program contact the County Extension office.

WT Black Studies Class Has Wide Perspective

English 302 — studies in Black Literature — is entering its second year at West Texas State University. English Department professor Dr. Charmazel Dudd started it as a survey of black literature last year, but it has become more specialized since then.

"There is more fiction and more material from contemporary poets now," says Dr. Dudd. "More courses in black studies are being offered at the university in the history department and others. By now, most of the students are more familiar with the names in black history, so I don't have to concentrate so much on the earlier writers," commented Professor Dudd.

When the class started in the fall of last year, a shotgun approach was used in the black literature field. Dr. Dudd said she started the course with the role of blacks in American history, some of their early writings and then eased into contemporary work. Since other departments have included black studies, her course has become more specialized.

"I personally would like to see more black writers included in an American literature course rather than being taught as a separate course," says Miss Dudd. "It's very difficult to isolate the 'black experience' from the 'American experience'."

Courses of study are all made up in similar fashion and undergo similar evolution but there is a human element involved; the reaction of the student in the classroom.

"It's an interesting course for both me and the student. I have never taught a particular course geared to a particular community. Few of the students enrolling in the class have ever taken such a course. Obviously, all the prejudices and emotional sensitivities come out. Generally, it has been very, very positive. The semester sometimes starts off with a pro-black and pro-white camp, but they come together through the literature; that's what we're looking for," commented Dr. Dudd.

Most of the black literature courses are two-thirds white in enrollment. As the semester wears on, the discussions become "wilder and wilder," in Dr. Dudd's words. The students are listened to constantly regarding their opinion of the course. Most of them ask for a focus on the more contemporary black authors.

The major benefit of the course seems to be after the student leaves the university. As teachers — especially literature teachers — they are able to mix some black literature with their normal classes in area schools, accelerating the society's awareness as a whole.

Perhaps the best evaluation came from one of Dr. Dudd's recent students. At the end of the course, the collegian reportedly said: "I enjoyed getting credit for something I'd always enjoyed reading."

Y Indian Guide Membership Drive

The Y.M.C.A. Indian Guides are starting a new membership drive that will include Canyon. The drive will begin in Canyon Sept. 20 with a meeting to be held at Rex Reeves Elementary School at 7:30.

The purpose of the Y Indian Guides is to foster a companionship between father and son, to help the father get down to his son's level. Also, to try to get fathers who are busy to realize the need to spend more time with their sons and to aid them in this endeavor.

Membership is open to fathers and their sons from the 1st through 6th grades.

The Indian Guides will organize tribes of six to ten father-son pairs with the sons being in the same age group. They will meet twice a month in a member's home. Then, once a month, they will join the Amarillo and Gene Howe tribes for a "longhouse activity" for all members.

In October there will be a Fall Camp to be held at Camp Christmas Tree and in November there will be a paddleboat derby in the Y pool. Other activities the Guides participate in are the making of headdresses, totems, totem poles, and other items related to Indian lore.

The Y Indian Guides are a national program and there are some 5 - 6,000 members nationally. In Amarillo and the Gene Howe area there are 4-500 members to date. At this time, there are no members in Canyon that they know of.

For further information, contact Bob Brower at the Amarillo Y.M.C.A. at 374-4651.

Ballet Groups Stage Shows In Palo Duro

Amarillo and Lubbock ballet companies will team Sept. 15 and 16 for two performances in the Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

The Amarillo Repertory Dance Co. directed by Neil Hess and the Lubbock Civic Ballet directed by Suzanne Aker will present two evenings of song and dance under the stars.

Performances both nights begin at 8 p.m.

Each dance company will present several numbers and other entertainment is also planned, including the Dixieland Singers of Amarillo.

The Amarillo company will perform numbers including "Imperial Classique," a jazz number "Space Odyssey," and a patriotic number "Red, White and Blue."

An admission price for the performances will be charged, but sponsors of the presentation have not yet set the price.

If this is your youngster's first year in school, either kindergarten or first grade, you can expect to see some changes for the first few weeks of school, says educator Dan White.

Here, a class of Rex Reeves kindergartners sing a song with teacher Mrs. Peggy Trosper leading.

Changes Noted In New Students

Sending your child off to school for the first time can mean surprises — for both the pupil and the parents, a West Texas State University educator says.

"There are three kinds of changes one will see: physical, social and emotional," says Dr. Dan White, chairman of the Department of Elementary Education. "The physical changes are the most obvious."

"The new kindergartner or first-grader will probably come home after the first days of school tired and irritable," he adds.

White says the child probably is worn out by the new experience and the interruption of his previous routine.

"It is possible that the child misses the nap he was so accustomed to just a few weeks before he started school," the educator says.

Less obvious are the social changes that take place. "In many cases the youngster is not used to being around others," White says. "He needs some adjustment in this area."

A new elementary school pupil has probably had some play experiences with children his age but he has not played with them, White says.

Instead, those play experiences have been "joint play" where the preschooler played side-by-side with one of his peers.

That social function is altered in the formative first days of his schooling. He learns to participate in group play.

Being required to do that may mean a strain on his identity at first, White says. The emotional stresses are probably the most evident and yet the hardest to find causes for, he adds.

"Think of this in the same vein as a parent having a new job or a new boss," White says. "This is a totally new thing for the youngster. The teacher is a very significant adult in his life. The new student is emotionally assaulted from all sides. Never before has he had to deal with so many new situations, so many new demands on his intellect, so many new challenges to his identity. Add to those pressures the organized taking in of information and you've got cause for some emotional outpourings."

What to do? Take it one step at a time with your first-time student, White says.

"He needs your understanding as a parent. He needs you to be patient with him. He needs you to talk with him, ask him about his experience at school, draw him out, let him tell you about it," White says.

Those are some of the things to expect. After about four weeks, all those strains will disappear and the child will talk excitedly about school. He'll actually look forward to going there every day, White says.

Composer Subject For WT Prof's Dissertation

The life and works of Ruth Crawford Seeger, the only woman recipient of the Guggenheim Fellowship in music composition, were the subject of a recently-completed doctoral dissertation of a West Texas State University music profes-

Matilda Gaume, associate professor of music at WTSU, was awarded a Ph.D. degree this summer from the University of Indiana. Her dissertation was the first attempt to thoroughly examine the contributions of Mrs. Seeger to music history.

Mrs. Seeger, step-mother of famed folk singer Pete Seeger, experimented boldly in new musical idioms. According to Mrs. Gaume "she was doing in the Twenties and Thirties what composers are doing now."

The daughter of a Methodist preacher, Mrs. Seeger grew up in the American Midwest, studied in New York City and taught in a conservatory in Chicago.

In the 1930's, Mrs. Seeger and her husband went to Washington, D.C. where they discovered the rich repository of American folk music lying dormant in the archives there. The entire family, including young Pete, soon were immersed in what is considered to be the greatest collection of American folk music in the world.

Mrs. Gaume did not take up in her dissertation Mrs. Seeger's folk music phase, but plans to do so, she says, if she expands her dissertation for publication.

The idea for making the life and works of the woman composer the subject of her study occurred to Dr. Gaume when a professor at Indiana told his class that someone should undertake the research while the composer's husband, Charles, was still a living source of first-hand information.

"I think I was the only one in the class who'd even heard of the woman. Since my primary interest in music is the contemporary field, I thought I might as well be the one to do the study," Dr. Gaume said.

Upon receiving copies of Mrs. Seeger's compositions from the Library of Congress, Dr. Gaume compiled instrumental parts for each. Several of the works were then performed in 1969 by members of the Amarillo Symphony under the direction of Dr. Thomas Hohstadt.

"Some of the works were so complex, I had to hear them performed before I could undertake an analysis," Dr. Gaume said.

From Mrs. Seeger's correspondence, her high school diary and the accounts of surviving relatives and friends, Dr. Gaume drew her portrait.

The diary revealed the mind of "a young, sensitive girl with a strong sense of humanity," Mrs. Gaume said.

Mrs. Seeger's original intent was to be a poetess, and, like many young artists of her time, she deplored the carnage of young men in the First World War, Dr. Gaume said.

Dr. Gaume added that the woman may have been a major inspiration in the life of Pete Seeger, a leader in the musical "war protest" movement.

Mrs. Gaume completed the study this summer after five years of research under organized research grants totaling about $4,000.

A member of the WTSU faculty since 1945, Mrs. Gaume received a Master of Music degree from Northwestern University and a Bachelor of Music degree from the University of Wichita (now Kansas State University at Wichita). She also studied at UCLA and the Julliard School of Music.

Her civic contributions include being head of the Neighborhood Campaign of Cancer Drive in Dalhart in 1970, head of the Mental Health Drive in Canyon in 1971, she participated in the Mother's March of Dimes 1972, and was co-chairman of the Business Drive for the Cancer Drive in Canyon, for 1973.

Mrs. Hines also sat on these two boards, The Board of Directors for the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Directors for the Randall County American Cancer Society.

She is a charter member of the Canyon Junior Forum, and is treasurer for 1973-74, also a charter member of Alpha Theta Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and treasurer for 1973-74 in addition to holding the chairmanship for the Ways and Means Committee of that sorority for this year.

The purpose of the award is to recognize young women between the ages of 21 and 35 for their exceptional contributions to their professions, communities and country. Nominations for this award are made by women's organizations, churches, and alumni associations throughout the country.

These candidates are now being considered for further state and national awards. This fall, fifty of the young women included in Outstanding Young Women of America, one from each state, will be named their state's Outstanding Young Woman of the Year. From the fifty state winners, America's ten Outstanding Young Women for 1973 will be selected.

Bachelor Survival Course Now Offered At Canyon HS

A new course at Canyon High School has been introduced as a result of the quarter system, requests, and necessity. In short, the course is for boys only and is a kind of survival course for single males.

The class is taught by Janet Fincher and will be offered again for one period next quarter, and once for the third quarter.

Mrs. Fincher is pleased with her students' progress and related that the boys learn quite quickly.

During the course, there will be six weeks of cooking and six weeks of clothing.

Friday, the class was in lab and the project was pies. The class was divided into groups of three to a kitchen and one boy was appointed cook, assistant cook or dishwasher for that lab. That's right, they wash their own dishes and clean up their own messes.

Many of the boys replied affirmatively when asked if they enjoyed the course. They said they liked to cook and didn't mind wearing the aprons, in fact, they were proud of them.

One football player handled the pie dough like it was something to cherish rather than like he would hold a football.

Some of the remarks made during the first steps of preparation were:

"Don't put him in our kitchen, he's too sloppy."

"All right you guys get it together, we're going to have the best pie today."

"Hey, somebody didn't dry this measuring cup last period. Now the flour will stick."

Generally, the attitude of the entire class was one of total enjoyment.

Each kitchen in the Homemaking lab has a stove, sink and a large counter and each is equipped with all the utensils necessary.

After the class finished baking the pie, each pie was to be divided into sixteen slices and everyone sampled the others' pie.

In the clothing part of the class, the boys will learn how to mend and wash their own clothes. If time allows, Mrs. Fincher hopes to get into a little machine sewing too. This part of the program will enable the boys to take care of laundry and mending problems while away at college.

Coach Needed For Kids, Inc.

Five coaches are still needed for Kids, Inc., football teams, according to official Max Brummett.

He said one full coach and four assistant coaches are needed for teams.

Ninety-five boys have signed up to play on five Canyon football teams this fall. They will compete against other Canyon teams and Amarillo Kids, Inc., teams.

The season's games are expected to get underway around mid-September.
